

PRESS RELEASE

Rosersberg, Sweden, February 1, 2024

Steelwrist recognized as one of Sweden's most attractive career companies 2024

Steelwrist, a global manufacturer of tiltrotators, quick couplers and work tools for excavators, is proud to receive the recognition Career Company 2024 by Karriärföretagen. Since 2011, Karriärföretagen acknowledges employers in Sweden who provide outstanding career and development opportunities for young talents. This prestigious title is granted to selected companies, signifying their commitment to being a bridge between students, young professionals and their future employers.

An innovative and technology-driven approach makes Steelwrist stand out

The nomination for the recognition reads: "Steelwrist is a prominent employer that stands out through its innovative and technology-driven approach. The company offers a dynamic work environment where employees are encouraged to contribute to success through creativity and technical expertise. Steelwrist strives to create an inclusive company culture and promotes continuous development and challenges, making them an attractive choice for those seeking a career within a leading player in technology and innovation".

A wide variety of career paths in a global company

Karriärföretagen's annual recognition serves as a testament to Steelwrist's dedication to fostering talent and providing a supportive environment for professional growth. As a global leading manufacturer within the industry Steelwrist offers a wide variety of career paths for young individuals entering the workforce.

"Being recognized as a Career Company 2024 is probably a result of our unique culture where speed, responsiveness and simplicity are core values, and we do have many very talented people onboard", says Stefan Stockhaus, Steelwrist CEO.

Karriärföretagen acts as a crucial link between students, young professionals and potential employers, making it a valuable resource for companies looking to establish themselves as employers of choice. Steelwrist's inclusion in the esteemed list of Karriärföretagen for 2024 underscores its position as a company that values and invests in its workforce.

"We are proud to be acknowledged by Karriärföretagen, and this recognition will undoubtedly contribute to our employer branding and attract top-tier talent to our global organization", says Anne-Charlotte Barclay, Steelwrist HR Manager.
