

PRESS RELEASE

Brisbane, Australia, November 16, 2020

Hama Hydraulics and Steelwrist sign distribution agreement for the Western Australian market

Hama Hydraulics has signed a distribution agreement with Steelwrist for the Western Australian market, for sales and support of Steelwrist products across the state.

Hama Hydraulics provides solutions to a wide variety of manufacturers across many different applications including Civil and Mining. With a collective of over 40 years of experience in the Western Australian market and with a customer base and contacts across the machine dealer network, this partnership promises to deliver exceptional products and customer service into the region.

Initially the focus will be on the distribution of Steelwrist tiltrotators and the work tool range of products. Steelwrist Australia will work closely with Hama to support the business development. Hama will ultimately be stocking Steelwrist parts and products in their Welshpool facility, with shipping support from Australia and Sweden.

-“The civil construction market in Australia is starting to realise the benefit of introducing more productivity into an excavator and this is where Steelwrist and our partnerships become so important. We have had reasonable success in Western Australia, but having a sales and support partner like Hama, who are already active in these markets, will only add to our success in this region”, says Darryn Wilson, Country Manager Australia and New Zealand at Steelwrist.

-“This is great news; we are very excited to become a Steelwrist partner and the Hama Hydraulics team look forward to our companies working together. We believe the Steelwrist products to be the leading-edge in productivity and technology and with Hama Hydraulics experience and reputation, the market for these types of products will have great exposure in Western Australia”, says Andy Laughton, Company Director of Hama Hydraulics.

About Hama Hydraulics

We have been servicing the mining, forestry, earthmoving, construction and similar industries for over 20 years and aim to deliver a high quality, cost effective product. Some of the common products we supply are hose burst protection valve systems, quick coupler circuits, loader to tool carrier conversions, machine attachment tool adaption and commissioning. Our team is involved in design, manufacture and assembling the products assuring quality and accuracy with each install or field kit so it is trouble free and to the customers satisfaction.

We also do machine control alterations, upgrades, modifications to dedicate the machine to a new purpose, boarding stair case systems, supplying technical assistance and sourcing hydraulic components for workshop and field requirements. Keeping up with new technology and techniques allow us to design electro hydraulic circuits and remote control systems to customise machines to suit any purpose.
